This is the fifth conference of the research network "Negotiating (In)visibilities" (ni.ikk.ku.dk). Participants at previous conferences held in Copenhagen and Zurich throughout 2012 and 2013 have included art practitioners and academics from areas including literature and film studies, philosophy and art history, architecture, sociology, geography and urban studies. Themes have included surveillance and voyeurism, architecture and visibility (especially glass), censorship and security, and spatial and archival practices. The Cambridge conference will unite a rich array of interdisciplinary approaches to visibility, invisibility and the way in which these categories are changing in contemporary culture.

The conference will be divided into four sections focusing on four themes:

- Latency and Eruption
- Movement and Stasis
- Surveillance and Technology
- Ethics and (In)visibility

Each section will include a key-note lecture with Q&A as well as a panel session, with ample time for discussion and exchanging ideas across disciplines and specialisations.

11 December 2013

Venue: Mill Lane Lecture Room 1

7pm “Fortress Britain”, Evening presentation of photographs by artist Henrietta Williams, with Michael Krause (Potsdam University)
12 December 2013
Venue: Mill Lane Lecture Room 1
9.15 Registration
9.45 Introduction, Annie Ring (University of Cambridge), Henriette Steiner (ETH Zürich), Kristin Veel (University of Copenhagen)
10.00 Keynote: Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht (Stanford University)
11.00 Coffee
11.15 Panel and discussion session: ”Latency and Eruption”
Chair: Hans Ulrich Gumbrecht (Stanford University)
Speakers:
Eirini Avramopoulou (Institute for Cultural Inquiry, Berlin) and Pablo Bustinduy (The New School for Social Research)
1.00 Lunch
2.30 Panel and discussion session: ”Movement and Stasis”
Chair: Emma Wilson (University of Cambridge)
Speakers:
Anne Sejten (Roskilde University) and Lorna Muir (University of Aberdeen)
4.00 Coffee
4.30 Keynote: Andrew Webber (University of Cambridge)
5.30 Wrap-up session

13 December 2013
Venue: Mill Lane Lecture Room 1
10.00 Keynote: Ulrik Ekman (University of Copenhagen)
11.00 Coffee
11.30 Panel and discussion session: ”Surveillance and technology”
Chair: John Daugman (University of Cambridge)
Speakers:
Claire Birchall (King’s College London) and Michael Nagenborg (University of Twente)
1.00 Lunch and experiential city-tour with Marianne Landrock
2.30 Panel and discussion session: ”Ethics and (In)visibility”
Chair: Lorens Holm (University of Dundee)
Speakers:
Marisol Clark-Ibanez (California State University) and Joey Whitfield (University of Cambridge)
4.00 Coffee
4.30 Keynote: Mikkel Bolt Rasmussen (University of Copenhagen)
5.30 Final discussion and wrap-up session:
Claus-Bech Danielsen (Aalborg University), Henrik Reeh (University of Copenhagen), Annie Ring (University of Cambridge), Henriette Steiner (ETH Zürich), Kristin Veel (University of Copenhagen)

There is no registration fee. However, reading material will be circulated to the participants beforehand, so please register by December 1st by sending an email to keav2@cam.ac.uk Please let us know if you wish to attend the lunches on Thursday and Friday (please note that lunch on Friday is part of a experiential city tour). We strongly encourage participants to attend the full event.